Description:

The body of Christ is the powerful representative of the kingdom of God on earth. God's desire is for the body of Christ to be equipped and built up as an irresistible force in the world. In Ephesians 4:11, the apostle Paul tells us that Jesus appointed five types of ministries, specifically gifted by God, to build up His church: apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors, and teachers.

Do we see all five of these gift ministries working together in the church today? Where are the apostles and prophets? Where is their power for equipping and edifying the saints for ministry? How can the body of Christ function when these vital parts are missing? Today, God is restoring the ministries of the apostle and prophet and reestablishing their authority in Christ. Christians are reawakening to our need to move in harmony with God's original design for the church.

Pastor Frank Amedia expertly lays out the role of the five ministry offices in Ephesians and explains the place apostles and prophets have in the body of Christ today. More importantly, he helps readers recognize where they fit into the ministries and gifts that the Holy Spirit assigns. By doing so, they take their destined place in the body of Christ. As a result, all members of the church are empowered with gifts and ministries to fulfill God's call for His kingdom on the earth! The Holy Spirit has assigned each of us a place of value and purpose in the body of Christ. When everyone embraces God's design, there is freedom, unity, and power in Christ!
